

Welcome to the latest edition of our quarterly newsletter.

Thank you for being an integral part of our community!

At the Supervision Around the World Project, we aim to bring you compelling success stories, critical developments and thought-provoking analyses from the global community corrections system. Offering alternatives to incarceration for appropriate people and helping those who have been incarcerated to be successfully reintegrated to society, benefits us all. Here is a sampling of our recent work.

Empowering Global Connections

The American Probation and Parole Association (APPA) Conference in Las Vegas was an inspiring experience! SAW Project CEO Julie Truschel had the opportunity to explore the high social costs of incarceration and consider strategies to reduce these numbers on a global scale.

This event offered a wonderful opportunity to reconnect with longtime colleagues, build new international partnerships, and engage in meaningful discussions on the future of criminal justice. Thank you to everyone at the APPA who made this experience possible.

We deeply appreciated the opportunity to exchange ideas and collaborate with outstanding professionals like Iuliana Carbutaru, Probation Inspector for the National Probation Directorate within the Romanian Ministry of Justice and Moe Hashimoto, Section Chief of the Rehabilitation Bureau at the Ministry of Justice, Japan.

Announcement

New Partnership Agreement with the Association of Paroling Authorities International

We are thrilled to announce the signing of a partnership agreement with the Association of Paroling Authorities International (APAI). This agreement marks a major step forward in our shared commitment to advancing best and community supervision.

practices, innovation, and collaboration in the field of parole

This collaboration will strengthen global knowledge-sharing on parole, supervision, and restorative justice, helping to advance best practices in community-based justice systems. Together, we're working to support fair, effective, and evidence-based approaches to reintegration and public safety.
