To Whom It May Concern:

We write in favor of the principles and aims of the Supervision Around the World (SAW) Project. In the spirit of global exploration and what works here and abroad, we support cataloguing best and promising practices being used across all continents.

As partners in the World Congresses on community corrections / probation; we are aware of the model of volunteer probation officers in Japan, the yellow ribbon project in Singapore and the efforts of the United Nations in maintaining human civility in custodial situations outside of incarceration. As board members who value all of these efforts, we are happy to extend our brand in furthering the mission of communication and education on systems that others can learn from.

Thank you for your time and attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Ellen Donnarumma
ICCA President
